THINGS TO CONSIDER...

Shower Head: Make sure the shower head will not spray water out the enclosure door when it is opened with the water turned on. Water should stay inside the enclosure.

Measurements: What may look like a rectangular opening may not be exactly rectangular once it is measured. Enclosures that are not plumb, level, or standard lengths may be more costly when it comes to materials and installation.

Configuration: Where is the shower or bathtub located? Are the walls made of sheetrock or tile? Where are the supporting studs? The answers to these questions help determine the maximum weight of the glass that the walls can safely support.

Ventilation: If the glass enclosure is too high and the ceiling is too low, the enclosure will not be well ventilated. Without ventilation, moisture will build up, paint can peel, and mold may grow, especially in a sheetrock ceiling.

CARE AND CLEANING INSTRUCTIONS

Please review and follow the cleaning instructions to keep your new shower or bath enclosure clean and sparkling for years to come.

- ◆ Clean your framed, semi-frameless, and frameless enclosure hardware with a soap and water mix. Mix a spray bottle with 3 drops of Palmolive dish detergent and water. Use a soft paper towel, Bounty suggested, or a soft rag to clean and dry the hardware.
- ◆ Do not use chemical agents on your hardware. The agents can tarnish the finish, whether it is aluminum hardware, solid brass hardware, or anything in between. Do not use ammonia related cleaning products.
- ◆ Clean your enclosure glass with a mix of 80% water and 20% white vinegar. Mix a spray bottle with this combination. You can clean all your glass in your home with this mix.
- ◆ Always leave your enclosure door open until the inside of the shower or tub is completely dry. This will allow air flow into your shower area, drying any moisture, which will help to reduce mildew buildup. Also, never leave any wet cloths in the shower overnight.

WARRANTY INFORMATION

Your new enclosure carries a one year warranty against any defect in material or workmanship. Central Glass will repair or replace, at our discretion, the defective part at no charge to you within a reasonable time. This warranty does not apply to misused or not properly cared for enclosures.
